Official journal document
THESARA — Jurnal Kajian Multidisipliner
Publication Agreement · Version 1.1 — October 2026
Open access
Published by Belajar Cerdas

Publication Agreement

Signed after the manuscript has been accepted · One form per article

> Note for the publisher (delete before the form is used)
>
> • This agreement follows THESARA's current copyright policy: copyright remains with the authors, the journal receives the right of first publication, and no Creative Commons licence has been adopted yet. Clause 4 must be completed by the publisher before the form is sent to authors, and updated once the final licence is adopted.
>
> • This document is a draft to be reviewed by the publisher and, where appropriate, legal counsel before official use. The template author is not a legal adviser.
>
> • Grey fields are completed by the editorial office (article data) or by the authors (identity and signatures).

Parties

This Agreement is made between the Authors named below (the "Authors"), represented by the Corresponding Author, and Belajar Cerdas, publisher of THESARA — Jurnal Kajian Multidisipliner (the "Publisher" and the "Journal").

Manuscript number (OJS ID)	…
Article title	…
Authors (order of printing)	Full names of all authors
Corresponding author	Name · affiliation · e-mail
Date of acceptance	DD Month YYYY

Clause 1 — Copyright

Copyright in the Article remains with the Authors. This Agreement does not transfer copyright to the Publisher. The Authors retain the right to be identified as the authors in every use of the Article.

Clause 2 — Rights Granted to the Publisher

The Authors grant the Publisher, free of charge and worldwide:

1. The right of first publication: the right to publish the Article for the first time in the Journal, in print and/or electronic form, with the Journal identified as the place of first publication.
2. A non-exclusive right to reproduce, distribute, display, store, archive, index, and make the Article available to the public through the Journal website, databases, indexing services, aggregators, and digital-preservation services, and to translate the Article's metadata for those purposes.
3. The right to edit the Article editorially (grammar, style, layout) without altering its scholarly substance; substantial changes require the Authors' approval.
4. The right to register a persistent identifier (such as a DOI) for the Article once the Journal holds a DOI prefix, and the right to publish corrections, expressions of concern, or retractions in accordance with the Journal's publication-ethics policy.

Clause 3 — Rights Retained by the Authors

Without needing the Publisher's permission, the Authors retain the right to:

1. Use the Article or parts of it in their own later works, books, theses or dissertations, teaching materials, and presentations, with a full citation to the publication in the Journal.
2. Deposit and share the accepted manuscript and the version of record on personal web pages, institutional repositories, and disciplinary repositories, with a link to the published version in the Journal, immediately upon publication (no embargo).
3. Reproduce the Article for non-commercial teaching and research at the Authors' institutions.
4. Apply for or retain patents or other intellectual-property rights in findings reported in the Article.

Clause 4 — End-User Licence

The Publisher is authorised to make the Article available to readers on the following terms (to be completed by the Publisher before signature; tick one option):

☐ The Article is published open access without a Creative Commons licence. Readers may read, download, and share the Article for non-commercial purposes with attribution; any other use requires the Authors' permission. These terms apply until the Publisher adopts a final licence; the adoption of a licence does not apply retroactively to this Article without the Authors' written consent.

☐ The Article is published open access under the {{name of licence, e.g. Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0) — completed by the Publisher only once the licence has been formally adopted}} licence. The Authors grant that licence to the public in the Article from the date of publication.

Clause 5 — Authors' Warranties

The Authors warrant that:

1. The Article is the Authors' original work, has not been published in any form except as disclosed to the editorial office, and is not under consideration by another publisher.
2. All named authors meet the authorship criteria and agree to this Agreement; the Corresponding Author is authorised to sign on behalf of all Authors and has obtained their consent.
3. The Article does not infringe the copyright, privacy, or other rights of any third party, contains nothing defamatory or unlawful, and written permission has been obtained for every third-party material used.
4. The research was conducted in accordance with applicable research ethics; ethical approval and informed consent were obtained where required; conflicts of interest, funding sources, and the use of generative artificial intelligence have been disclosed in accordance with the Journal's policies.
5. The Authors will indemnify the Publisher against third-party claims arising from a breach of the above warranties.

Clause 6 — Publication Fees

Submission and/or article-processing charges, if any, follow the publication-fee policy published on the Journal's official website at the time of submission. The policy applicable to this Article: completed by the Publisher: "no fees" or the fee details under the policy in force.

Clause 7 — Withdrawal, Corrections, and Retraction

After publication, the Article cannot be withdrawn by the Authors except through the Journal's retraction procedure. The Publisher may publish corrections, expressions of concern, or retractions in accordance with the Journal's publication-ethics policy and the guidelines customary in scholarly publishing, after giving the Authors an opportunity to respond.

Clause 8 — General Provisions

1. This Agreement takes effect when signed by the Corresponding Author and accepted by the Publisher, and remains in force for the term of copyright in the Article, unless the Article is rejected or withdrawn before publication, in which case this Agreement ends automatically.
2. This Agreement is governed by the laws of the Republic of Indonesia. Disputes are settled amicably; failing that, by the competent court in the Publisher's city.

3. Amendments to this Agreement are valid only in writing and with the consent of both parties. In case of a discrepancy between the Indonesian and English versions, the Indonesian version prevails.

Signatures

Corresponding Author, on behalf of all Authors:

Full name	…
Affiliation	…
Place, date	City, DD Month YYYY

Signature

For the Publisher:

Name	Name of the Publisher's officer / Editor-in-Chief
Position	…
Place, date	City, DD Month YYYY

Signature	